

Dr. Karen Johnston

Abstract

My invention is a three-layered pantiliner with separate, removable and disposable layers which can be removed as needed ensuring continued protection.

The longer version of the pantliners has a bottom (third) layer that measures 7 1/4", the middle (second) layer measures 7", and the top (first) layer measures 6 3/4", approximately. The shorter version has similar measurements beginning with a 5 3/4" bottom layer.

By having three layers, rather than the customary one layer, the wearer is able to remove the top layer as needed, leaving another layer underneath, and still another layer under that, to continue the protection of her clothing.